NLCA was awarded The Eastern Pennsylvania Water Pollution Control Operators Association 2019 Innovation Award, recognizing the unique and innovative approach to treating wastewater for the use of recycled glass in their Biosolid Reed Beds. The Common Reed roots and natural microbial processes filter and reduce volatile organics of the Biosolids before the filtered water is returned to the influent of the WWTP. The beds have proven to be both cost-effective and energy-effective, saving the Authority thousands of dollars in annual hauling expenses.

Influent flows continued to remain a staff priority over 2019. We request anyone with sump pumps to contact our office to assure the pump is not illegally discharging into the collection system. To set up a free inspection and proper discharge consultation, please contact our office at 717-445-7553.
